Rare Early American Article by John Allan on Coins & Medals

Allan, John. ON COINS AND MEDALS, WITH A NOTICE OF THE MEDAL WHICH HAS BEEN RECENTLY STRUCK TO COMMEMORATE THE SETTLEMENT OF NEW HAVEN, CONNECTICUT. The American Journal of Science and Arts. Vol. XXXVII, No. 2 (October, 1839). Conducted by Benjamin Silliman. New Haven: Printed by B.L. Hamlin. 8vo [23.5 by 15 cm], original printed light brown card covers. vi, 201–407 pages [Allan's article comprises pages 285–288]. Internal foxing, as seen in all copies we've encountered. Very good. $2250

A remarkable recent find, never before offered at auction in numismatic channels. John Allan (1777–1863) was an early American coin collector who, according to Q. David Bowers's American Numismatics before the Civil War, is "a candidate for being America's first rare coin dealer." A Scottish immigrant to New York City, he was active from at least the 1820s until his death at age 86 in 1863. Attinelli thought highly of him, saying that "Mr. Allan was so noted an antiquarian as to require no further mention from me"—and yet Attinelli himself didn't know of this publication, failing to include it in his 1876 Numisgraphics. The article, written at the request of Benjamin Silliman, the editor, consists of a general overview of the subject of numismatics, with a focus on the development of the medallic art since the Renaissance. After discussing the national medallic series of Europe, Allan makes note of the Comitia Americana series and mentions the medals commissioned for Commodore Truxton and Preble. The War of 1812 Naval medals are brought up, as is the Erie Canal medal. Allan closes by mentioning the medal struck in commemoration of the bicentennial of the founding of New Haven, Connecticut (home of the American Journal of Science and Arts, and the impetus behind Silliman's request of some words by Allan for the journal). Allan was involved in the design of that medal, which was struck by the U.S. Mint. Better known as a book collector than a coin collector, Allan was nonetheless a force to be reckoned with. The sale of his library was the most important book sale to have taken place in America at the time. Catalogued by the famous American bibliographer Joseph Sabin, the 5278 lots brought $37,698.26, a staggering sum. Over 200 lots of coins and medals were included near the end. Purchasers included Ten Eyck, Appleton, Woodward, Strobridge, Jewett and other notable numismatists of the day. Other material derived from his collections was sold in later years, including a coin collection auctioned by Cogan in 1870 (the subject of a plated catalogue). The present article is of considerable importance as one of the very few numismatic works published in this country in the 1830s and as perhaps the only numismatic work authored by Allan. See David Fanning's article on this work in the July–September 2015 issue of The Asylum for more information.

Notes that No Silver Dollars Had Been Minted since 1803

The English translation of a highly detailed and enthusiastic account of a visit to the United States by Duke (Prinz und Herzog) Karl Bernhard of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach (1792–1862), who in the years 1825 and 1826 traveled through the southern, midwestern and northeastern United States and in parts of Canada. Among other things, it contains Duke Bernhard's account of his visit to the United States Mint, which is undescribed in the numismatic literature. Bernhard appears to have had some numismatic interest, and is a keen observer. On his visit to the Mint, he witnesses the production of half dollars, including the cutting of the planchets and the actual striking of the coins. He notes that no silver dollars had been struck since 1803. The medals produced by the Mint are of considerable interest to him, and he praises in particular the Naval medals of the War of 1812 period and specifically the 1815-dated medal struck in gold for Andrew Jackson for the Battle of New Orleans. (Bernhard was a military man admired for commanding the 2nd Brigade of the 2nd Dutch Division of the Duke of Wellington's forces at the Battle of Quatre Bras in the lead-up to Waterloo.) He admires as well the agricultural medals struck by the Mint and laments that the Mint's own collection does not include examples of the earlier American medals. No stranger to politics, he records that while the Mint is poorly equipped and insufficiently housed, the personnel fear requesting adequate funding from Congress for fear of losing the establishment altogether. While his record of this visit takes up only pages 179–180 of the second volume, it is quite interesting. Elsewhere, Bernhard describes the medal collection at the Boston Athenaeum and notes a collection of coins at the Western Museum in Cincinnati. Careful reading reveals a number of numismatic references throughout the text, many of them pertaining to medals, but encompassing also the circulating coinage and even bank notes. The author visits Thomas Jefferson at Monticello and spends two months enjoying New Orleans. This first English edition was published the same year as the original appeared in German. Clark III: 14. Graff 279. Howes B385. Sabin 4953.

New York, June 29–July 1, 1885. iv, (3)–76 pages, blank leaf; 1749 lots; 2 fine heliotype plates. Neatly priced in purple ink. [bound with] Woodward, W. Elliot. CATALOGUE OF A COLLECTION OF COINS AND MEDALS SELECTED FROM THE CABINET OF J. COLVIN RANDALL, OF PHILADELPHIA. New York, Sept. 15–17, 1885. iv, (3)–78 pages; 1839 lots; 1 fine gold-tinted heliotype plate. Mostly hand-priced in red ink. Three catalogues in all, bound in one volume. 8vo, contemporary red half morocco, with pebbled black sides; spine with five raised bands, ruled and lettered in gilt; marbled endpapers; printed wraps not included. Second Randall sale bound before first. Binding lightly rubbed and worn. Still an attractive volume; near fine. $2250

Three plated catalogues, all rated A+ or A– by Adams, bound together in a contemporary binding. The Chapman catalogue is of an important sale featuring ancient coins, large cents and half cents, silver dollars, and other rare American coins. Adams rates it an A–, noting: “1804 $1 with lengthy comment. John Brown medal. Washington peace medal. Proof 1822 1c. RR patterns. XF NE shilling.” The long description of the 1804 dollar, while attesting to the brothers’ considerable marketing skills, is worthy of a home in the numismatic mumbo-jumbo hall of fame. The coin itself (purchased at the auction by James V. Dexter via J.W. Scott), found its way into the sale under clouded circumstances. Purchased by the Chapmans in the October 13, 1884 sale of Berlin coin dealer Adolph Weyl, some claimed that the coin belonged all along to the brothers and was consigned by them to establish a foreign pedigree. This theory retains its credibility with some, though the present cataloguer doubts it very much and notes that Weyl was probably the most important European specialist in American coins of the 19th century. The visually appealing plates are printed in tints approximating their metallic content (gold, silver and copper), and depict ancient coins, a few in gold, colonials, early silver dollars, large cents and half cents, a 1796 and 1807 quarter dollar, a few European rarities, etc. Of the first Randall sale, Adams (rating it an A+), writes: “Complete regular mint series, best ever for condition. Proof 1795 $1. 1853-O 50c, no arrows. MS 1804 25c, etc., etc.” The plates mostly depict rare and choice American silver coins, along with a few large cents, colonials, and other pieces. The second Randall sale is rather scarce. It comprises Randall’s duplicates, still good enough to rate an A– from Adams. The plate mainly depicts rare United States gold coins. That all of these 1885 sales are brought together in the same 19th-century binding is quite remarkable. The volume was compiled by and bound for Peter Mougey (1842–1908), a Cincinnati collector best known today for the 1910 auction sale of his collection held by Tom Elder. The Chapman sale is signed by Mougey on the first plate’s blank verso. While all contemporary compilations of 19th-century auction catalogues have their charm, this particular volume is unusually nice and bears an impressive provenance.

The John Story Jenks Sale, with Matching Portfolio of Reprint Plates

Chapman, Henry. CATALOGUE OF THE JOHN STORY JENKS COLLECTION OF COINS. ANCIENT GREEK, ROMAN AND THE ENTIRE WORLD. EARLY AMERICAN COLONIAL AND STATE ISSUES AND UNITED STATES PATTERNS AND THE REGULAR ISSUES. Philadelphia: Davis & Harvey, Auctioneers, Dec. 7–17, 1921. 4to, later white linen, gilt, bound in the style of the original. xii, 653, (1) pages, blank leaf; (24) page prices realized list bound in; 7302 lots. Set of 42 reprint plates of coins and medals housed in matching white linen plate portfolio, gilt. Fine. $400

Adams A+: “Henry Chapman’s magnum opus. Superb coins of the world plus U.S. all series, all expertly described.” The most famous of the Chapman sales and one of the most renowned American coin auction ever held. John Story Jenks began collecting coins around 1850 and was 82 years of age when his collection was sold. Chapman claimed that “He is probably the oldest collector in the United States, and nearly every important sale has contributed to his collection.” Twenty years his junior, Henry Chapman was still at the height of his considerable powers: “Suffice it to say I have not spared my faculties, energy or money to give in this catalogue full descriptions of the coins contained in this grand collection.” For years the Jenks catalogue served as the best American single-volume guide to the entire range of numismatics. Of great importance for the fine array of ancient Greek and Roman coins alone, the sale also featured an incredible selection of medieval and modern European rarities, and an especially important and extensive series of British coins. The American coins, from colonials to pioneer gold, were also of prime importance. This copy has been recently rebound in white linen, in the style of the original binding, and is accompanied by a set of the reprint plates housed in a matching white linen portfolio. The first six plates depict choice ancient Greek, Roman and Byzantine coins; the next twenty-six mainly illustrate European rarities; three plates mostly depict American colonial coins and Canadian tokens; one plate illustrates choice United States patterns; one plate depicts United States gold coins and one is devoted to silver; one plate illustrates large cents and the next depicts half cents and various unusual American rarities; the penultimate plate depicts American pioneer gold coins, and the last plate is devoted to Spanish and Latin American rarities. A very nice set, at a fraction of the cost of an original plated catalogue. Adams 40. Clain-Stefanelli 7997*. Davis 210.

Vladimir Clain-Stefanelli's Early Work on Callatis

Clain-Stefanelli, Vladimir. EARLY WRITINGS ON THE COINAGE OF CALLATIS.

Includes:

A photocopy of his 1938 doctoral thesis Monete inedite din Callatis cu o contribuție la teoria contramarcării monetelor antice (Cernăuți, de Clain Valdemar, Universitatea Cernăuți), with photocopied authorial annotations (ii-xvi, 43 pages; 4 pages of illustrations).

An original offprint, "Beiträge zur Münzkunde von Kallatis," from the VI. Internationaler Kongress für Archäologie (Berlin, 1939). 356-360 pages; 1 plate.

An original offprint, "Contributo allo studio delle monete di Callatis," from Numismatica (Gennaio-Giugno 1947). 7, (1) pages; illustrated.

Materials vary somewhat in condition, but are generally fine or nearly so.

$150

Includes some of Vladimir Clain-Stefanelli's earliest significant numismatic writings. Clain-Stefanelli's interest in the coinage of Callatis, particularly the counterstamped coinage, developed before the Second World War. The most significant of his pre-War work is his doctoral thesis written while at the Universitatea Cernăuți (then part of Romania, now part of Ukraine). While present here only in photocopy, it is difficult to obtain in any form; the two original offprints included here are quite rare. Callatis, or Kallatis (present-day Mangalia), was a notable Greek colony established by Heraclea Pontica. The Greek coins issued are often of the type of Alexander the Great, and frequently bear counterstamps, which were of particular interest to Clain-Stefanelli. The colony was a subject he returned to as late as 1963.

First Edition of Clarke's John Hull: A Builder of the Bay Colony

Clarke, Hermann Frederick. JOHN HULL: A BUILDER OF THE BAY COLONY. Portland: Southworth-Anthoensen Press, 1940. First edition. Small 4to, original brown cloth, gilt; top page edges gilt. xiv, 221, (3) pages; fine frontispiece; 15 fine plates, including one depicting twenty New England, Willow Tree, Oak Tree and Pine Tree coins. Fine. $200

One of only 500 copies printed, many of which apparently went to institutional libraries. An entire chapter (pages 53–67) is devoted to Hull's coining activities, and a later chapter details the marriage of Hannah Hull, recounting "the tale about the dowry being her weight in Pine Tree shillings." The plates in this first edition are considerably superior to those in the reprint.

13 Fourteen 19th-century U.S. Newspapers with Content on Counterfeiting

[Counterfeiting]. FOURTEEN AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS, 1819–77, FEATURING ARTICLES ON COUNTERFEITING. Includes the following:

Morning Chronicle & Baltimore Advertiser (July 16, 1819), with a long story (over a column) on page 2 regarding Jacob Perkins and his voyage to Great Britain in the context of the fight against counterfeit bank notes in that country; discusses various techniques for thwarting counterfeiting.

The National Advocate (New York, May 31, 1823), with story on page 2 concerning the arrest of Messrs. Borst and Cromwell in Schoharie County for counterfeiting bank notes.

The Christian Mirror (Portland, Maine, Nov. 16, 1827), with stories on page 4 regarding counterfeit $100 notes of the United States Bank, Baltimore branch, and $20 notes of the New Orleans branch; also, a report on a sting operation netting a man selling bulk counterfeit currency.

New-York American (Nov. 27, 1827), with stories on page 3 alerting the public to counterfeit $20 notes of the United States Bank, payable at Norfolk, and $10 notes of the Bank of Augusta [issue is badly trimmed, not affecting these stories].

National Gazette and Literary Register (Philadelphia, Feb. 17, 1831), with a page 1 story reporting from Cincinnati on the arrest of a gang of counterfeiters in possession of false $5 notes on the United States Bank.

- The Christian Mirror* (Portland, Maine, Feb. 6, 1834), with story on page 3 concerning the arrest of a group of counterfeiters in Missouri, led by James Garland, who were operating on a very large scale—printing up to $40,000 worth of counterfeit bank notes a day.
- The Christian Mirror* (Portland, Maine, April 17, 1834), with story on page 3 concerning the proceedings against a pair, one of them a Revolutionary War veteran, accused of making and passing counterfeiting “American half dollars and Spanish quarters.”
- The Christian Mirror* (Portland, Maine, May 8, 1834), with stories on page 3 warning of altered notes of the South Bank, Boston, and of counterfeit $100 notes of the Bank of the United States, Washington.
- The Christian Mirror* (Portland, Maine, June 19, 1834), with story on page 3 concerning the proceedings against a gang accused of counterfeiting half dollars.
- New-York American* (November 4, 1841), with story on page 3 concerning the arrest in Albany of a man named Saxon, caught with $8000 worth of spurious notes of the Clinton Bank of New York on his person.
- The Christian Mirror* (Portland, Maine, Jan. 25, 1844), with story on page 3 concerning counterfeit $10 notes of the Grafton Bank (New Hampshire), giving tips on detecting them. Also includes story on the 1843 coinage of the New Orleans Mint.
- The Christian Mirror* (Portland, Maine, Feb. 1, 1844), with story on page 3 concerning counterfeit half dollars of the New Orleans Mint and other false coins in circulation.
- Daily National Intelligencer* (Washington, March 16, 1849), with article on page 4 reporting on a crude counterfeit of the $10 notes of the Merchants’ Bank of Baltimore, relating a careful description of the notes given by R.W. Latham & Co.
- The Indianapolis Sentinel* (April 11, 1877), with article on page 7 titled “Spurious Notes and Coin in Abundance,” discussing counterfeit high-denomination notes recently recognized and noting that fake half dollars and half eagles “are being circulated on the frontier on the routes leading to the Black Hills country.”

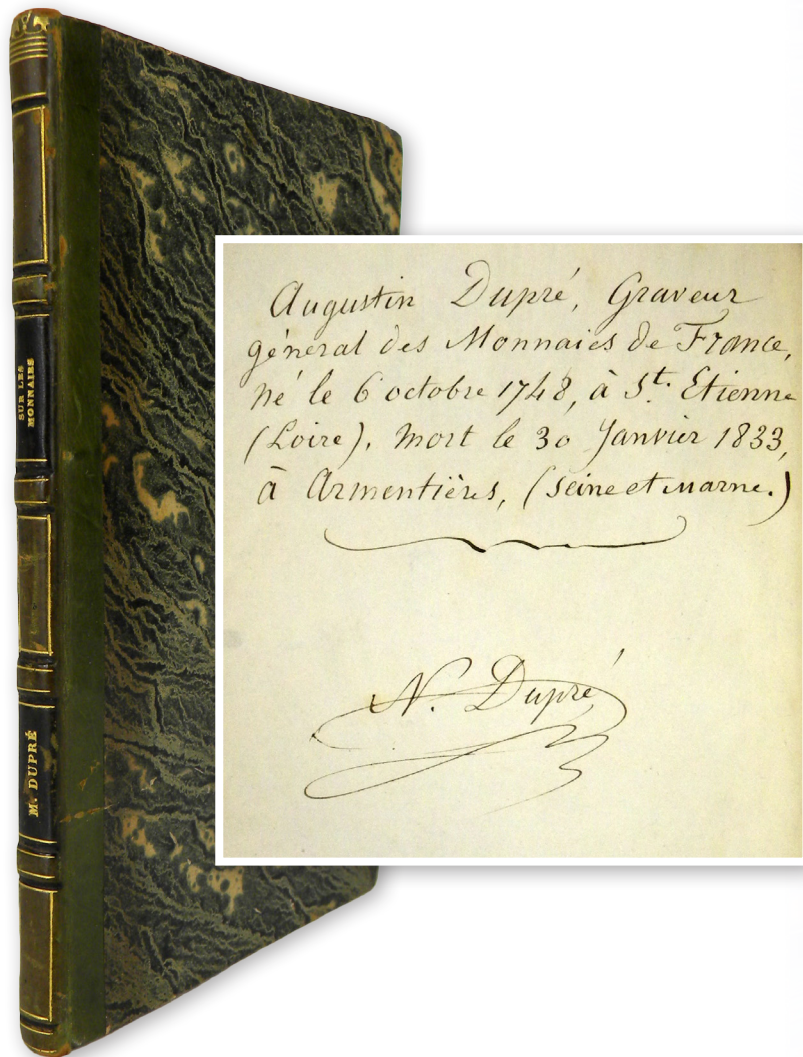

Overall condition is very good to fine, with all being printed on rag paper (and hence not brittle). A few with pages separated at spine. $275

The prevalence of counterfeiting, particularly in the first half of the nineteenth century, is attested to by the frequency with which stories reporting arrests for the crime appeared in local newspapers. A number of the articles here present provide detailed information on the notes being counterfeited, and often provide the names of the accused counterfeiters. Most interesting.

three very rare publications by this renowned artist. Dupré (1748–1833), remains one of the most important engravers of French coins in modern history, and his designs for early U.S. medals (mostly notably the Libertas Americana) have ensured his lasting fame in the western hemisphere. An engraver by trade, Dupré began to work on medals in the early 1770s and quickly became adept. Notable works include several classic medals of the Comitia Americana series: those for Nathanael Greene, John Paul Jones and Daniel Morgan, as well as the related Diplomatic Medal and the Libertas Americana medal. Had the last been his only contribution to the field of American medals, he would justly have remained famous in this country. During the French Revolution, however, he became interested in applying his ideas to the new national coinage that was under discussion. On September 11, 1790, the National Assembly appointed a seven-member committee charged with studying the laws of coinage (Saunier, Augustin Dupré, page 48). Dupré wrote his October 1790 Observations addressed to the Comité des Monnoies de l'Assemblée Nationale, a short work which was printed at least three times, two of which should be considered drafts (only the final version is present in this volume). The final lines of this work call upon Newton as an example of the artist/scientist in service to his state: "L'exemple de Newton rendant sous ce rapport des services essentiels à sa patrie peut, je pense, servir d'excuse à ceux qui sont animés du même motif." In early 1791, the Assembly adopted some of Dupré's ideas and initiated a contest for new coin designs under the eye of painter Louis David. Dupré won the competition and became the 14th graveur général des monnaies on July 11, 1791: "L'Assemblée nationale, sur le rapport de son comité des monnaies, et après avoir entendu la lecture du procès-verbal de l'Académie de peinture et de sculpture, en date du 9 de ce mois, duquel il résulte qu'à la majorité absolue des voix, le sieur Dupré a été jugé par cette Compagnie, le plus digne de la place de graveur général des monnaies, ordonne que le dit sieur Dupré se retirera auprès du Pouvoir exécutif pour se faire expédier une commission de graveur général des monnaies de France." His neoclassical designs would win him fame and admiration that continue to this day. Dupré's rise to prominence in a period of political upheaval made him enemies, however, and he was seriously threatened during the Terror when he was denounced by one Beyerlé, a former counselor to the parliament at Toulouse, who accused Dupré of poorly managing his responsibilities and producing inferior coinage. Dupré's printed response is the second work present in this volume, and is of considerable importance. He not only defends himself, but insists on reforms he had proposed earlier. The final work present here was written with educational reformer Bertrand Verlac, an influential "homme de loi" and functionary with the Ministry of the Navy. It is a detailed response to a report to the Convention Nationale on the redesign of the coinage. Written at the height of the French Revolution, it is an important statement of Dupré's beliefs and artistic vision, very much tempered by the practicalities of doing business in such an atmosphere without literally losing one's head. Dupré managed to retain his position through these turbulent times, continuing in the role of graveur général des monnaies until being replaced by Pierre-Joseph Tiolier in 1803. All three of these works are rare, being known primarily from institutional holdings and being virtually unheard of on the secondary market. Little-known in the numismatic world, they are rarely listed in the usual bibliographies (Engel & Serrure list only a preliminary draft of the first work present here as 2376). They are unmentioned by Lipsius at the end of the eighteenth century and by Dekesel at the beginning of the twenty-first. O.-C. Reure's Bibliothèque des écrivains foréziens ou qui se rattachent au Forez par leur résidence ou leurs fonctions jusqu'en 1835 (Montbrison, 1914) lists all three works bound in this volume (pages 282–283), as do a few other specialized French bibliographies (though they remain unlisted by Brunet). They were virtually unknown to modern numismatists until the April 2, 2014 sale of the Dupré archives by Bonhams in New York, of which this was part. Our 2015 New York Book Auction included a similar volume from the Dupré archives, a compilation of the three works present here along with two earlier printed drafts of the first work. It brought $5500 plus the buyer's premium.

A Plated Copy of Elder's Gschwend Sale

Elder, Thomas L. CATALOGUE OF THE EIGHTEENTH PUBLIC AUCTION SALE OF A SPLENDID COLLECTION OF AMERICAN AND ENGLISH COINS, THE PROPERTY OF PETER GSCHWEND, ESQ. OF PITTSBURGH, PENNA. New York, June 15–16, 1908. Small 4to [27 by 17.5 cm], original gilt-printed card covers. 83, (1) pages; 2 leaves of addenda tipped in at end with instruction slip; 1097 lots, plus addenda lots 1098–1108 and A–BB; 17 fine photographic plates throughout, first with tissue guard. Front cover reattached with archival tape. Near fine. $2200

The scarce photographically illustrated edition of Elder's first blockbuster catalogue. The Gschwend collection begins with astonishing colonials, many of which are plated: an NE shilling; Higley coppers; a Rosa Sine Spina; two Liber Natus pieces; Maryland silver; and so on. (The NE sixpence appears to be the fake from the Clay sale; this and the three-pence were pulled from the sale.) The large cents and half cents include important specimens in remarkable condition. Pattern coins of the 1860s are very well represented. An excellent sale, and a useful reference for provenance studies. William Hartman Woodin had purchased the collection intact from Gschwend and, after removing a small number of coins needed for his collection, consigned it to Elder. Elder called it "the finest and most important that has been held in this city since the Parmelee sale in 1890." Originally from Pennsylvania, Gschwend later moved to New York City, engaging in the dry goods business on Fifth Avenue. At the time of the sale, he was "one of the few remaining numismatists of the days when such men as Messrs Mickley, Newlin, Cogan, Woodard (sic), Bushnell, Hazeltine (sic), and Levick held their sway in the realm of coin collecting." The two addenda leaves are scarce, with this copy including the notice to append the leaves to the end of the catalogue. Adams 18 (A+ overall, A in large cents, half cents, colonials, Washingtonia, patterns and early silver). Ex Michael Spurlock library.

Hirsch, Jacob. GRIECHISCHE, RÖMISCHE UND BYZANTINISCHE MÜNZEN AUS DEM BESITZE VON BARON FRIEDRICH VON SCHENNIS, BERLIN. DR. B.K. IN M. An important and popular book. Clain-Stefanelli 1849*. Grierson 53. Kroh 7 (5 stars): "the ultimate 'coffee-table' book; certainly the finest work on Greek coins ever printed. It is massive in size, and contains many fantastic enlargements of the best Greek coins you are ever likely to see. The text (by Colin Kraay) is very well written, and the photography (by Max Hirmer) is truly incredible, even by today's standards. Long out of print, this is arguably the world's most sought after numismatic book."

First Known Appearance of the Dollar Sign in Print, with Earliest Known Illustration of a U.S. Coin

Lee, Chauncey. THE AMERICAN ACCOMPTANT; BEING A PLAIN, PRACTICAL AND SYSTEMATIC COMPENDIUM OF FEDERAL ARITHMETIC; IN THREE PARTS: DESIGNED FOR THE USE OF SCHOOLS, AND SPECIALLY CALCULATED FOR THE COMMERCIAL MERIDIAN OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. Lansingburgh: Printed by William W. Wands, 1797. 12mo, contemporary full brown calf; spine ruled in gilt; black morocco spine label, gilt. Frontispiece engraving of coins in current usage in the U.S. by A. Reed; 297, (15) pages. Marginal wear to frontispiece, with recto carefully repaired and reinforced with tissue, into which has been left a window through which is revealed an original ownership inscription. Minimal browning. Detailed early ownership inscriptions. Joints weak, but holding; moderate staining to covers. Very good. $2000

This early American accounting and bookkeeping manual contains what is generally believed to be the first appearance in print of the dollar sign ($). It also includes, as a frontispiece, an engraving depicting a 1795 U.S. eagle, which Eric Newman has called "the earliest known illustration of a United States coin." Also included on the engraving are the Spanish pistole, French "guinea," British guinea, and Portuguese Johannes and half moidore. The book consists of a series of practical lessons for clerks. The dollar sign, which appears on page 56 for the first time and then throughout the volume, is a typographical approximation based upon the handwritten dollar sign used by some during the period. It resembles our own, but also differs from it. Much as a typographical ampersand is much more stylized than most of our handwritten ampersands, this initial attempt at a dollar sign in type is less a strict representation of the handwritten sign than an attempt to establish a similar sign for more formal treatment in type. A very scarce volume, of exceptionally high importance, with at least one copy bringing over $3000 at a K&F auction. For a fascinating, if at times controversial, overview of the history of the dollar sign, see Eric P. Newman's "The Dollar Sign: Its Written and Printed Origin" in America's Silver Dollars (New York: ANS, 1995). Evans 32366: "It is claimed that this work was the first to use the dollar mark, $." Howes L196 (aa): "First book to adopt the dollar sign."

An Inscribed Copy
of One of Loubat's
Non-Numismatic Titles

25

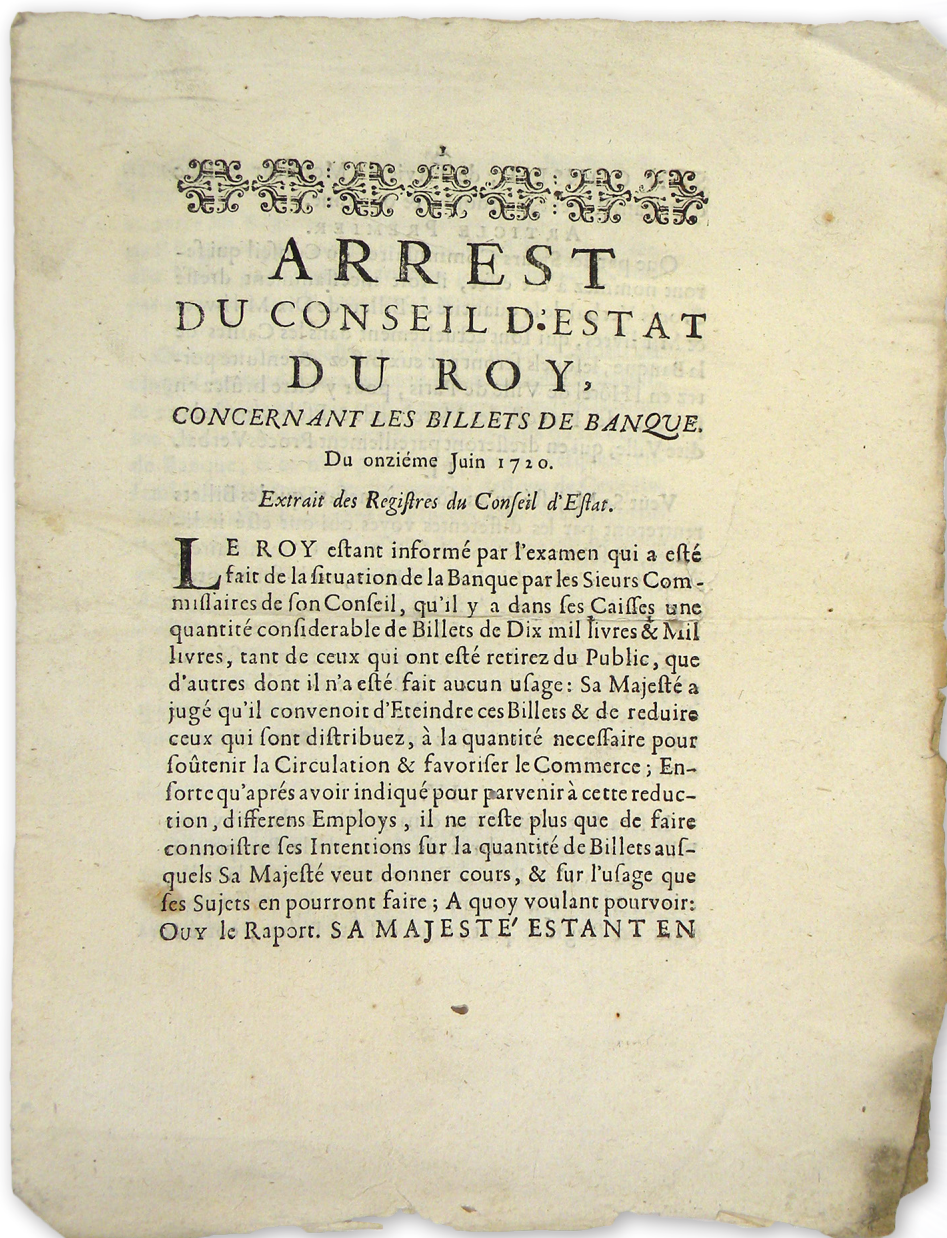

Monsieur
l'abbé Paris
avec les remerciements
et les hommages de
J. Loubat
Paris le 3 novembre 1885

Loubat, J.F. NARRATIVE OF THE MISSION TO RUSSIA, IN 1866, OF THE HON. GUSTAVUS VASA FOX, ASSISTANT-SECRETARY OF THE NAVY. FROM THE JOURNAL AND NOTES OF J.F. LOUBAT. Edited by John D. Champlin, Jr. New York: D. Appleton and Company, 1873. First edition. 8vo, original russet pebbled cloth, attractively decorated and lettered in gilt and black; slate gray endpapers. (4), viii, (3), 10–444, (2) pages; 13 finely engraved plates, mostly depicting European royalty, with tissue guards. Inscribed and signed by Loubat on opening blank. Previous owner's label on front pastedown. Only slight wear, with shelf rubbing the most obvious; near fine. $225

An attractive copy of one of Joseph Florimond, Duke of Loubat's non-numismatic titles. Loubat's work on American medals is well-known, but his other publications have generally faded from memory. The author's tendency toward lavish production values is perhaps not as prominently displayed with this volume, though its printing and binding are well above average. The engravings—of Tsar Alexander II, Christian IX of Denmark, Princess Dagmar of Denmark (Grand Duchess Marie Feodorovna), Queen Olga of Württemberg, Empress Marie of Russia, and others—illustrate their subjects and Loubat's quest for social advancement in equal proportion. The purpose of the mission to Russia was to congratulate the Tsar on surviving an assassination attempt in 1866—the first attempt of several, the last of which (1881) was successful.

26 1720 Arrêt of Louis XV on the Billets Issued by the Bank under John Law

[Louis XV]. ARREST DU CONSEIL D'ESTAT DU ROY, CONCERNANT LES BILLETS DE BANQUE. Extrait des Registres du Conseil d'Estat, du onzième juin 1720. 8vo [25.5 by 20 cm], self-covered. 4 pages; woodcut headpiece. Very good. $600

Issued on the same day as the so-called "Bubble Act," an attempt to reign in the excesses being caused by rampant speculation caused by the frenzy of trading of South Sea Company stock, this arrêt calls for the public burning of bank notes and other measures to ameliorate the chaos being caused to the French economy at this time. A highly interesting document from the peak of the John Law period.

(4), 179, (1) pages; numerous illustrations including early and contemporary coining machinery. Binding a bit worn, particularly at spine. Somewhat musty. Very good. $125

28 Three Rodolfo Ratto Fixed-Price Catalogues of Ancient Coins

Ratto, Rodolfo. VENDITE A PREZZO FISSO. Three numbered fixed-price catalogues offering ancient coins, as follows:

- 9: Monete romane: consolari, imperiali, bizantine. II fascicolo: monete consolari ... monete imperiali... 1933. 8 collotype plates numbered 7–14.

Milano, 1933–39. 4to, original printed wraps. Bindings a bit weak, with last taped. Very good or so, overall, with moderate wear. $200

Rarely offered fixed-price catalogues by this important dealer, better known today for his auction catalogues. Ratto issued 23 catalogues in this series of fixed-price lists, of which nine focus on ancient coins. All of the catalogues include fine collotype plates, making them as useful as his auction catalogues of the period. The first complete run we recall seeing was recently sold in our 2016 New York Book Auction, where it brought $2750 hammer.

The Final Standard Catalogue, with Annotations by Ford on Private & Territorial Gold

29

Raymond, O.E. [editor]. THE STANDARD CATALOGUE OF UNITED STATES COINS AND CURRENCY FROM 1652 TO PRESENT DAY... Eighteenth edition. New York, 1957. 8vo, original blue cloth, gilt. 224 pages; text illustrations. Annotated by John J. Ford, Jr. in the section on private gold coins, with notes recording the weights of examined specimens, edge variations, die varieties and so forth. Covers a bit worn and smudged; very good. $250

A remarkable copy of the final edition of this hugely influential guide to U.S. coins. The 18th edition was published after Wayne Raymond's death, and was mostly compiled by John J. Ford and Walter Breen. This copy has detailed annotations by Ford in the section on private and territorial gold coins—an area with which he will always be associated, for good or ill. The notes record details of specimens examined by Ford that are not included in the data published by the Standard Catalogue and were possibly made in preparation of a future edition that never came to be.

An 1838 Account of the Embassy to Siam & Muscat During Which Were Presented the 1804 Dollars

Ruschenberger, W.S.W. A VOYAGE ROUND THE WORLD; INCLUDING AN EMBASSY TO MUSCAT AND SIAM IN 1835, 1836 AND 1837. Philadelphia: Carey, Lea & Blanchard, 1838. First edition. 8vo, later [c. 1900] blue cloth, gilt. 559, (1) pages. Some signatures foxed; generally near fine. $1250

Quoted extensively in Q. David Bowers's The Rare Silver Dollars Dated 1804 and the Exciting Adventures of Edmund Roberts. Ruschenberger was a U.S. Navy surgeon who accompanied the USS Peacock, under the command of C.K. Stribling, on "an Embassy from the Government of the United States to the courts of Muscat, Siam, and Cochinchina, in the years 1835, 1836, and 1837 [embracing] Zanzibar, Arabia, Hindoostan, Ceylon, Java, Siam, Cochinchina, China, the Bonin Islands, the Sandwich Islands, the Californias, Mexico, &c." Of numismatic importance due to the presentation of sets of United States coins by diplomat Edmund Roberts to Said bin Sultan al-Said, Sultan of Muscat and Oman, and King Rama III of Siam. The facts behind these presentations were largely forgotten until the Siam set surfaced in 1962 at the ANA Convention. The distribution of these sets are mentioned in Ruschenberger's book, though he does not mention the odd presence of 1804-dated coins among the 1834-dated pieces constituting most of the set. On page 91, he writes, "It is a universal custom, amongst the nations of Asia, to make gifts to each other on all occasions of friendly intercourse; and, in negotiating treaties, the nature and value of the presents is always a point of grave consideration between the contracting agents. In conformity with this usage, a variety of articles was presented to the Sultan by the United States, amongst which were a sword and altagan, with gold scabbards, and mountings, Tanner's map of the United States, an American flag, a set of American coins, several rifles, a number of cut glass lamps, a quantity of American nankin, known as Forsyth's nankin. &c. &c." The 1804 dollar in this set will be offered as part of the Pogue collection later this year. On pages 343-344, he discussed the Siam gift in similar terms. Besides the two diplomatic gift sets, Ruschenberger appears to have had an above-average interest in coins, regularly discussing the coinage of the various places he visits and discussing older coins on occasion. Very interesting, and rather scarce. Howes 514a.

A fascinating piece, and a nice accompaniment to a library strong in early American publications. The brass strikings are considerably more scarce than those in copper, and this piece exhibits a nice brassy color that leaves no doubt about its composition.
